

Power Move 7: Vibe Marketing

The Vibe Blueprint

Answer this like money is on the line, because it is. Vibe is the filter. It decides whether the offer even gets a fair shot.

This exercise is not an audit. It is a set of decisions you can enforce so the buyer feels the brand before they can explain it.

HOW TO USE THIS SHEET

Answer in plain language. Write what you can actually control. If you get stuck, write the first true sentence, then refine.

PART 1: THE FEELING (WHAT YOU WANT THEM TO FEEL)

The vibe in 3 words:

Vibe word 1:

Vibe word 2:

Vibe word 3:

The buyer guard getting in the way:

What raises that guard (3 things you will not do):

What lowers that guard (3 signals you will lead with):

The anti-vibe (3 words you refuse to feel like):

Anti-vibe 1:

Anti-vibe 2:

Anti-vibe 3:

PART 2: THE CUE (WHAT MAKES YOU RECOGNIZABLE ON CONTACT)

Signature cue (one repeatable thing people will remember):

Where it shows up (3 places):

1.

2.

3.

PART 3: THE RULES (WHAT KEEPS THE VIBE CONSISTENT)

Write five plain rules. If someone breaks these, the vibe breaks.

Rule 1:

Rule 2:

Rule 3:

Rule 4:

Rule 5:

PART 4: THE FIRST IMPRESSION (WHERE THE VIBE GETS DECIDED)

Pick the three touchpoints where buyers form their first impression.

Touchpoint 1:

Touchpoint 2:

Touchpoint 3:

For each touchpoint, write what must be true right away so the vibe lands. Think: what they see, hear, feel, or experience in the first 10 seconds.

What must be true?

1.

2.

3.

PART 5: THE THREE CHANGES (WHAT YOU WILL CHANGE THIS WEEK)

Pick three actions. One improves the environment. One improves communication. One removes friction.

Environment change:

Communication change:

Friction removal:

PART 6: THE DRIFT RULE

Finish the sentence.

If the vibe is _____, then _____ cannot feel _____.

PART 7: 7-DAY TEST

After 7 days, answer these.

What changed?

What did buyers do differently?

What felt better?

What still felt off?

What gets enforced next?
